4 Charged In Beating, Robbery of Woman

Venice Holdup Solved;
Equipment Worth $2760
Stolen From Auto Shop

A Venice fuel company operator was beaten and robbed. Equipment valued at $2760 was stolen by a burglar and there were 15 other weekend burglaries and thefts in the Quad-Cities area. Theft of $100 at Venice Gas & Oil, 101 South Fourth street, in 1963 resulted in four men being imprisoned. Investigating another holdup there at 9:40 p.m. Friday, Venice police determined a weekend observer was ranging against four other incidents.

In Friday's $154 holdup, Mrs. Mildred Jenne, proprietor, was struck in the head and kicked. She was bleeding about the head and a hand when police arrived in time to help her.

Armed robbers searched the store against Owen E. Hague, about 22, East St. Louis; Willie Henderson, about 18, East St. Louis; Henry, 23, East St. Louis; and St. Louis.

Lay was apprehended by Venice police while driving at Second and Broadway Friday night after allegedly dropping off Hague and his wife, Mrs. Hague, who reportedly fled from the scene on foot after he and Hague allegedly entered the gas and oil company office.

Custody of Hague was cleared Saturday. In East St. Louis police, and the others to be questioned in East St. Louis pending possible transfer here.

One of the two men who participated in the holdup was accused of using a gun, about a .38-caliber weapon, Mrs. Jenne related.

While being beaten, she broke a front window in an effort to attract the attention of passersby. Mrs. Jenne, 40, and Mrs. Joe Foote, 115-year-old, arrived as the intruders were leaving and assisted Mrs. Jenne.

$2760 Auto Shop Burglary

Equipment and tools valued at more than $2760 were stolen in a burglary at Bill's Auto Shop, 21st and Quincy street, after 6:30 p.m. Friday, when it was reported at 9:40 p.m. that day by Bill Blackburn, proprietor.

The loot included two toolboxes of assorted mechanical tools valued at more than $200 and a new impact wrench valued at $160.

All of the tools had "Bill B" or "Bill Blackburn" written on them with an electric pen.

Handyman

A burglar who pried open the front door obtained three dresses, a girl's coat and a teardrop pistol Friday night, a home at 2340 Lincoln avenue. The theft was reported on Page 20, Col. 5.

Nine Hurt in Area Traffic Mishaps; Youth Hit by Auto

Nine persons were injured in seven of 20 traffic accidents which occurred in the Quad-City area during the weekend. One victim was a young man who was struck by a car.

At 10:15 a.m. of 1579 Clark avenue was struck by a westbound auto at 2105 Edwardsville road at 6 p.m. Saturday as he ran into the street a short distance from an intersection.

Taken by ambulance to treatment at Jewish Hospital, St. Louis, Bailey suffered a cut on the head and bruises to the left arm.

There were skid marks for 30 feet at the scene, Madison police said. The motorist, Joe Woody, 65, of 2128 Grand avenue said the youth ran into the path of his car and he was unable to stop the vehicle in time.

The pedestrian was hit by the left front of the auto, and the right side of his windshield also was cracked.

The passengers were injured when an auto driven by Gail E. Phelps, 43, of 2006 Garfield, struck the parked auto of Clarence F. Hoffman, 40, of 2471 Center street, and sheared it into two in the 2600 block of 18th street at 7:35 p.m. Thursday. Hoffman and his wife, Mrs. Viola R. Hoffman, 35, were seated in their auto.

All nine persons at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Mrs. Hoffman had multiple scratches to her forehead, pains to both knees and numbness in her left arm. Hoffman had multiple scratches to his head, and abrasions to his left arm, contusions and abrasions to the back of his head and spine and abrasions to his left leg. They were released.

Phelps was admitted with a cut on her left hip, hands and his head, and abrasions to his knees and chest. He was charged with careless driving and illegal transportation of liquor.

Auto Upsets, Rolls

Two auto upsets, one in the East-West Corridor, the other on a federal highway, projects within this region probably will be needed to gain high grant priority, 40 city and county officials and planners were told Friday at a regional coordinating unit in East St. Louis.

The statement of an administrator of the East-West Corridor, said the area involved in the two upsets, one in the West Second street and crashed into a tree in front of a car, was to be submitted to the St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was treated for cuts to his upper lip.

Ewin Knezevich, 25, of 2605 Courtland street was involved in an auto accident at Nemesihi street, near the Bowland lanes, obtaining treatment for right elbow pains at St. Elizabeth Hospital Saturday.

Injuries on Bridge

John W. Popov, 49, Collinsville suffered cuts to his face and chest contusions at 11:10 a.m. Saturday.

Police Board Sets Exams for Vacancy in GC Department

Examinations for a vacancy in the Granite City police department will be held at 9 a.m. Feb. 25 in the Ellis Lodge to establish an eligibility list. Ralph T. Elliot, chairman of the board of fire and police commissioners, announced Friday.

Candidates must be between 28 and 45 years old, not less than 5 feet 9 inches tall, weigh at least 160 pounds and be in good physical proportion, have been a city resident for three continuous years prior to the examination, have a high school diploma or equivalent and must pass a physical exam.

Applications may be obtained in the office of Police Chief Ronald Vizer at the police station.

Elliot and his staff have completed a recent lack of interest in the examinations for probationary patrolmen, partly because of decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court, they said.

But the patrols will be surrounded by training, they added, pointing to the advantages of being a police officer.

Police are not subject to seniority layoffs, creating job security. After a year or year probationary period, a patrolman can look forward to continuous employment, they said.

A police officer cannot be fired without cause, being protected and provided as he has the protection of the Fire and Police Commissioner Act in addition to union representations, they said.

The starting salary currently is $32.50, after six months and to $37.50 after a year.

Advantages also include a longevity program, holiday pay, a 40-hour work week, a liberal uniform allowance, sick pay, sick leave and other benefits, retirement after 20 years of service and upon reaching the age of 50 at one-half salary, and additional retirement pay for each year of service over 50 years, Chief Vizer pointed out.

Maxwell-Luschinig Wedding In Candlelight Setting

Miss Jean Louise Luschinig and Robert Finley Maxwell exchanged wedding vows Saturday evening in a candlelight ceremony taking place at Niedringhaus Memorial Methodist Church.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Luschinig, 3123 Colgate place, and Mrs. Finley Maxwell, and the late Mr. Maxwell, 250 Benton street.

Burning candles and bouquets of white flowers were at the altar,

Whitmer-Jerden Nuptials At Niedringhaus Methodist

Niedringhaus Memorial Methodist Church was the scene of the wedding Friday evening of Miss Linda Jerden, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jerden, and Gerald E. Whitmer, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Whitmer, 2321 State street.

Bouquets of white pom poms, gladiolus and greenery decorated the sanctuary for the 8 o'clock ceremony performed by the Rev. R. Paul Whitmer, and the guests remained for a reception in Wesley Hall of the church.

Mrs. Russell K. West presided at the organ and accompanied her son, Richard West, as he sang the Lord's Prayer and "Because."

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Dr. James Koerner. She wore a gown of rayon acetate brocade made on Empire lines with an A-line skirt and a detachable train. Her veil was held in place with an open wreath. Her bouquet, which she carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias and variegated ivy centered with a corsage.

Mrs. Janet Jones was matron of honor for her sister: She was attired in a red velvetone Empire gown with a wide ruffled neckline and a fitted bodice. A headpiece matched the gown and she held a white glamela surrounded with variegated ivy.

Little Tammmy Jones was flower girl. She was dressed in red velvetone, the neckline and

The bride's mother appeared in a dress of dusty rose lace over satin with accessories to match. Mrs. Maxwell, mother of the bridegroom, wore a sapphire blue crepe sheath dress with a matching lace overblouse and white accessories. Both wore white cymbidium orchid corsages.

When they return from a trip, the destination of which was not announced, the couple will live in Belleville.

The bride attended Granite City schools and was graduated from Stout State University, Menomonie, Wisc., last January.

She also attended Carbondale, and plans to teach home economics. She was a member of the Home Economics Club, Alpha Omicron Pi Colony, and was resident as a graduate at the Alpha Omicron Pi Colony.

The bride carried a colonial bouquet of lilies of the valley, gladiolus and cymbidium orchids. The attendants, Miss Kathleen McManus of French Creek, Wisc., and a college roommate of the bride, made of宏ons and blue gauze, Mrs. Charles Johnson, and Mrs. Marvin Eschmann, the latter a cousin of the bridegroom, wore identical gowns of moss green velvet.

For strength, they were designed with scoop necks. Empire bodices and short pouf sleeves. Matching satin ribbon trimmed the sleeves with bows and bows. The bodices were of A-line skirts. The bouquets were of satin and they held nosegays of bird of paradise, green lace and croton leaves.

Lydia Crews and Michael Bennett served as flower girl and ring bearer. The former wore a white lace-trimmed dress with a basket of white flowers and greenery. The ring bearer, in a red velvet suit, was Scott Jones. They are niece and nephew of the bride.

Maxvill Presented Top Khoury Award

Dal Maxvill, St. Louis baseball which described Maxvill as looking like a "Cardinal in the making," was presented the night before the game executive Khoury League of the off the field than a member of the year award Sunday night at the old "gas house gang."

31st annual awards dinner-dance, Devine said. "Though Maxvill held at the Chase Park Plaza hotel in St. Louis.

The award was presented by Bing Devine, president and general manager of the New York Mets baseball team, before an audience of 1000.

In making the award, Devine said that Maxvill is deserving not only because of his present status in baseball but because of being accepted as a major league prospect.

"Other clubs are now envious of the Cardinals for having a fine shortstop like Dal on their team," Devine said.

He commented on a Washington University magazine article youths of this generation—sometimes called the soft generation—I am convinced they are proving their worth.

"Not only are they proving their worth in Vietnam, but they are displaying their humility and willingness to help others by serving in distant lands in the Peace Corps and in VISTA at home," Symington said.

George Khoury, founder of the Khoury League, said Maxvill is a typical Khoury League award winner. Past award winners include Bob Miller, Los Angeles Dodgers; Mike Shannon, St. Louis Cardinals; Roger Hunt, Los Angeles Dodgers; Normie Scherber, San Francisco Giants; and Leroy Thomas, Chicago Cubs.

Khoury said over 56,000 youngsters will play in Khoury League International this year. Proceeds from the awards dinner will go toward the Khoury League stadium fund in St. Louis.

Those attending the dinner from Granite City included Park Supt. Harold Brown and Barry Loman and Clarence Baumeyer, park board members.

GC Tops Oilers for 4th League Win

Wood River, despite the 22-point performance of Compton, bowed to the Granite City Warriors' superior shooting strength 67 to 55 Saturday on the Oiler campus.

The Southwestern Conference battle improved the Warriors overall mark 12-11 and their conference record to 4-7, while Wood River lost its 19th consecutive contest.

Four goals by Gary Simpson and a modified zone press in the third period permitted the Oliers to pull within 11, 48-37, but two successive buckets by Hentzel made it 52-37 going into the fourth quarter.

Troy Simpson goals followed by Compton buckets put the tally at 56 to 41. A hoop by Hentzel followed and, after a Wood River shot went astray, Simpson scooped up the rebound and took the ball the length of the court, driving a foul and hitting on a layup.

This three point play gave the Warriors their biggest edge of the game, 61-41. Wood River then countered Granite City 14-6 in the last four minutes but to no avail.

Wood River's Randy Houston displayed some last-second heroics, hitting a 40-foot desperation shot with one second remaining.

Simpson had his best scoring effort of the season, with 19 and Hentzel led with 12. Moore added 13, Bob Malotki five and Jeff Jones eight.

Randy Houston chipped in 16 for the losing Oliers.

State May Pay Part of School Stoplight Cost

Sixth Ward Alderman Gerald Parmley advised the Granite City council prior to the start of its special meeting Saturday afternoon that the state may be willing to shoulder part of the cost of installing a stoplight protection device by the end of January.

Parmley submitted a letter received by Donald Parente, 8 Devon Hill lane, from speaker of the House Ralph T. Smith (R-Alton). It reads:

"I want to acknowledge your letter concerning your desire to have a school crossing light on Pontiac and Johnson roads."

"My experience with the Highway Department is that they will not provide a light without our state funds. However, they will provide the installation, labor and expense if the light is obtained through local financing."

"In such areas, individual parties have joined together a fund one way or another to purchase the light. The Highway Department has then installed it."

"I would suggest you might get in touch with Mr. Fred Bunsenmeyer at his office at French Village to try to work out some routine whereby this result could be accomplished. Please let me know if I can be of any further service to you in this endeavor."

Dan O'Neil in a business, agriculture and trade by Seale Cargle, purchaser, and Imogene Carson, owner, in an R-4 one-family residence district of Chouteau township.

amended last Thursday morning.

Insufficient Basis

Amendments are not unusual but it is doubtful that sufficient advance notice given for the amendment to pass in this case, he added. "In my opinion, nothing in the first nine paragraphs lead up to the prayer for relief," Allen said.

Asked if Nome whether the case had failed to develop a legal basis for the ruling, he said the basis appeared to be federal since no Illinois Supreme Court or Illinois Appellate Court decisions were cited.

Nome stressed that Judge Steeper may have created "problems for which he will not bear responsibility but will be responsible for them."

Allen replied that "whether he considered all the ramifications and repercussions, we don't know. But we have a question about the make-up of the council being constitutional it offends a large taxpayer a basis for tax objections."

Appellate Court Action

Asked whether an appeal would in effect nullify the ruling, he said the city attorney, or individual aldermen have 30 days to file an appeal, which would hold the judge's order "in abeyance until the Appellate Court makes a decision."

He said it would take about two weeks to obtain and study a copy of last week's circuit court proceedings.

Basarich said city-wide election of aldermen in 1967 with creation of seven wards, 1968 "caused great confusion."

"What if eight aldermen are elected from the Sixth Ward?"

Johnson responded, "What if eight aldermen are elected from the Fifth Ward?" Basarich and Nome responded, "Five."

Basarich asked whether new or old eight-ward boundaries would be in effect if the at-large ruling is reversed. Allen said that in such an event the city would utilize the eight wards created by the Jacksonvilles, 1965 boundaries, rather than the 1965 wards.

Alderman Samuel Whitmer said differing county and city precinct boundaries and polling places have been criticized in the past as creating confusion but said that probably as far as existing at the current confusion, which he predicted will prevail through April 4.

Dallas Defends Council

Splitting with the other First Ward aldermen, Alderman Allen, 44, William Dallas, blamed "politics and personalities" for the election confusion and said that despite being elected from a ward he has attempted to represent both the ward and the city as a whole. Dallas said he has been a at-large election and said most aldermen have strived to serve the public conscientiously.

Moerlein said Saturday's session was "not a protest meeting" but "a protest" because it was legally called, with all given at least a 24-hour notice.

Alderman Richard Fry said

George Barrett, 72, of Live Oak, Calif., a former resident of Madison, died of cancer yesterday in California, according to word received by his sister, Mrs. Pauline Green, 1515 Sixth street, Madison.

Mr. Barrett, who formerly was employed at the Nickel Plate Railroad and at General Steel Company, is survived by his wife, Mrs. Pauline Green, 1515 Sixth street, Madison.

still the available air pollution control equipment which will result in the highest level of particulate emission control possible during the period of time in which the work is being performed.

"Approval of the Granite City Air Pollution Board is required prior to the equipment being purchased and installed. No variance is required."

In other action last week, the city clean air board heard a report by Prof. Erwin Hoelscher acting technical secretary that General Steel Industries has submitted an acceptable plan for waste disposal without open burning.

Prof. Hoelscher was authorized to represent the local board at the state hearing Wednesday in East Louis.

There was ample time for an appeal and he opposed any such action at a special meeting.

Obtaining an estimate from Allen that an appeal probably would cost over $1000, Fry said anyone who wants to appeal should pay for it himself.

Noting Nome's attempts to interrupt him, Fry called attention to Moerlein's support of city-wide voting and said, "Walter, your 'big 11' has come back to you." Moerlein, Nome and Fry have all backed the majority side in 11-5 council votes.

Moerlein said Saturday's session was "not a protest meeting" but "a protest" because it was legally called, with all given at least a 24-hour notice.

Vegetable Acreage Sought in County

There is increased interest in vegetable crop production in the southwestern part of Illinois, reports Chris Doll, University of Illinois area advisor of fruits and vegetables. Much of this interest is with cucumbers, pumpkins and sweet corn, he is reporting.

"A St. Louis processor is currently seeking growers with acreage of cucumbers for the manufacture of pickles and cucumbers produced on 500 acres could be marketed through this outlet. Growth prospects are good where abundant harvest labor is available," Doll said.

One-thousand acres of land for pumpkin production is being sought by a processor who processes. A like amount may be needed for sweet corn. These crops would be grown under contract and would involve production only. Harvest labor and equipment would be supplied by the contracting processor.

"Returns from these crops can be equal to or more than the regular agronomic crops grown in the area. Information on their cultural needs and care can be obtained through your county Farm Adviser," Doll advises.

The Monroe County Cooperative Extension Service will sponsor an informational meeting on growing pumpkins and sweet corn at the building in Waterloo on Feb. 16. Monroe County Farm Bureau at 7:30 p.m. Everyone interested in the production of this crop is welcome to attend.

Ladybird May Unveil Lewis-Clark Marker

Ceremonies for unveiling a National Park marker at Lewis & Clark Park, between the Quad-Cities and Hartford, will be held Saturday. Mrs. Lydia Johnson would unveil the plaque, being planned in conjunction with the dedication of the St. Louis Gateway Arch in late May or early June, it was reported Friday.

Tentative plans call for unveiling the marker at Lewis and Clark park early on the morning of the St. Louis dedication ceremonies. Mrs. Johnson, accompanied by Gov. Kerner of Illinois and Gov. Hearnes of Missouri and other officials, then would board a key boat replica of the vessel which carried the Lewis and Clark expedition down the Missouri river to head a flotilla of boats through the Chain of Rocks locks and down to the St. Louis landing in front of the Arch.

The group would be greeted there by President Johnson and government officials from 11 states through which the expedition traveled during 1804-06 to reach the Pacific Ocean. Date of the dedication program, which is being garanteed by the National Park Service, Memorial Association, will depend upon President Johnson's schedule. Present target date for the ceremonies is May 30, Memorial Day.

The Wyatt Earp Legend

By JOHN W. ALLEN
Southern Illinois University

During the boom days of the American West, which were the days of boozing in the West, Illinois sent a trio of venturous men to choose another three who added more to the legend of an untamed country than lured the sturdy, the venturesome, and the lawless to great numbers.

The exploits of these Illinois lads who became great two-guns men and peace officers added much to the story of an eventful period of the region's history. The three are known in our story as Masterson, Hickok, and Earp. Perhaps there were others from the state who well might occupy niches in a hall of fame for those who pistols bore many notches, but legend does not record their names.

Wyatt Earp apparently escaped having a nickname attached or substituted for his real one. Perhaps his full name, Wyatt Berry Stapp Earp, was enough to disconcert the thoughts of the men.

Wyatt was born in Monmouth in Warren County, Illinois on March 19, 1848. His ancestors had come from Scotland to settle in America before the Revolution. They located on the west bank of the Illinois river, settling in Alton.

From time to time they had moved westward and thus lived on the frontier for many years. If there be such a thing as being born with pioneer blood in one's veins Wyatt surely could claim it. His father, a carpenter by trade, was a boy, the family moved from Illinois to Iowa, one step toward the receding frontier. In 1864 when Wyatt was 16 he moved again. That move was to Iowa from Alton, Illinoian, Calif. On this journey of several thousand miles he drove an ox wagon and helped to ward off marauding Indians. On this journey he had a long look at the West and liked it.

Shortly after reaching San Bernardino, Wyatt took a job driving a stagecoach between San Bernardino and Los Angeles 60 miles away. But quickly changed to hammed teams that awaited him at play for big stakes. He served as peace officer in some of the Wyatt's days made round the trip to Los Angeles. In 1867 Bat Masterson had served as teamster for the stagecoach which he traveled and the skillful manner in which he handled the four or six horse teams driving the coach, 17-year-old Earp became widely and favorably known as among the very best of drivers. He no longer could be called a boy.

Tall, Sleider, Agile

Grown to manhood, Wyatt was six feet tall, slender, straight, very agile and well poised. One observer left a record that Earp was "a handsome and well mannered man."

Also, he was a man who didn't look fit to trouble.

Records also tell us that he, like Masterson and Hickok, was well dressed, one might be justified in saying flashily dressed.

There was nothing about him that would brand him as a swashbuckler.

Like Masterson, Earp became a railroad contractor. Each of the three silks shared the distinction of being a professional gambler.

Earp, like Masterson, was much interested in prize fighting, preferred fights. Also, with being interested in prize fighting, and fully qualified as a two-guns man, Earp was very much a two-fisted fighter. His interest in prize fighting endured.

In 1896 when Bob Fitzsimmons and Tom Sharkey were to fight for the heavyweight championship, there was some difficulty in securing a satisfactory referee.

Earp was asked to officiate and agreed to do so. When time for the fight arrived Earp appeared dressed in Ned Buntline Special 45, with the 1880s hardware.

Earp climbed into the ring and did a very good job. Except between the contestants, there was peace. In 1897 his yearning for adventure sent him on the gold rush to Alaska.

Returns to Study Law

An interesting interlude in Earp's career: After his venture and success as a railroad contractor, perhaps aided by profits from a gambling house venture, Earp returned to Illinois and began a study of law at his grandfather's office.

There he was married to a local girl, the daughter of his grandfather's neighbor. She died within a few weeks. Earp shortly became dissatisfied with Illinois University and moved to the University of Southern California.

Wyatt was a boy, the son of a cowboy, who had a long look at the West and liked it.

One can hardly name a gun man of note at that time with whom Earp was not in some way associated. His activities were varied and many. He rode shot gun for Wells Fargo Express, performed as a horseman in the rodeo, measured the speed with which he traveled and the skillful manner in which he handled the four or six horse teams driving the coach, 17-year-old Earp became widely and favorably known as among the very best of drivers. He no longer could be called a boy.

Post-Election Harassment Reported

To the Editor:
I am one of the unfortunate persons who ran against the city in the last election, if you will recall. There were numerous threats issued against me and my family by city and police officials at the time.

Since that time my two sons, who had just returned from six-year tours of duty in the service overseas, have been arrested numerous times, mainly because they knew that I had been elected. As a result, we have done eight times over to make certain with out a doubt as to his guilt or innocence.

My son was released promptly and the chief stated he was dismissing the charge, upon authority of the state's attorney of St. Clair county, Jack Karns.

This was just another false accusation, and it almost resulted in a serious miscarriage of justice in this corrupt area and which almost cost an innocent man years of his life in jail.

This was done by some politicians and law enforcement officials, who should look at their own past before condemning innocent persons.

Both sons' addresses were listed in the police reports and in your paper as mine, whereas one son resided in Granite City and the other at the Army Missile Base in Marine, Ill.

Since that time Harold Jr., who around the younger son, John, his name appeared more often. The police apparently never gave the papers the "junior" part; it seems my son always appears in the news.

Also, although their addresses were well known to the police, my address at 1601 Third St. Washington was always used. It is apparent that they took this small town and almost buried the prestige of my wife and I, as we have had numerous calls since the election at the times our papers were involved.

These types of tactics are familiar to residents of Madison when the machine is opposed.

In your Jan. 30 issue you included an article on Harold Jr., that he was alleged to be involved in a holdup of a liquor store in Cahokia. This proved to be another phony charge that cost my son eight days in jail falsely and much time from my job proving it was phony.

What the police did not tell you was that there were three involved in the holdup, not one, and that two more, it was alleged, to be involved in a holdup of a liquor store in Cahokia. This proved to be another phony charge that cost my son eight days in jail falsely and much time from my job proving it was phony.

I hired an attorney and we demanded a polygraph test immediately of State's Attorney Karns, which my son readily agreed to take without hesitation to clear his name. His detection test was delayed until the

PUBLIC, CITY PRAISED FOR STOPLIGHTS, GUARDS

To the Editor:
... And that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

The truth of Mr. Lincoln's words were proved in the council room Monday night when citizens made known their wishes concerning adequate protective facilities and provisions for children.

The mayor and aldermen, fully aware of the safety and traffic problems, and true to their word as to sentiments of the people, took immediate action to protect the children's lives.

Realizing that traffic lights would cause congestion, the council provided guards in addition to the lights to further protect the children and regulate the lights for the more advantageous traffic flow.

Between 3000 and 4000 Granite Cityans signed a petition, which included demands for specific action, thereby indicating that good government is the result of people voicing their minds rather than government attempting to voice the minds of the people.

Thank you to all workers who helped convey those intentions of the people to the proper authorities.

Realizing that we cannot mention all, and that we will inadvertently miss some, nevertheless we wish to specifically thank Pastors Gal Cross, Kenneth Reeves, Dean Maxton, Paul Smith, Alfred C. Frank Pierce, Wolverton, Carl Johnson and Fathers Mattingly, Schweihsenbach, Gordon Wright and Clegg.

Thanks to the Press-Record, Wgn, Ed Reiske in the Trades Council, Henry Lamb and the Holy Name Society, Lillian Turck and the Altar Society, the Knights of Columbus, Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, Rev. Berny M. Hommett and the Scouts of Troop 13, Mr. Reinhardt and the CYO, the parents of soccer players, the ladies who typed petitions and the women who braved the cold weather to stand and ask people to help them in their cause.

The management of the National Food Store, Kroger, By-Rite, Tri-States Michel's Men Shop and others allowed workers on their premises.

Thank you, Mr. and Mrs. Granite City, who put the lives of children before traffic and other

City-Wide Election of Aldermen At Least Once Will Be Refreshing

The court order requiring at-large election of City Aldermen this spring is a refreshing development.

At least temporarily will strengthen council interest in city-wide matters. Too often in the past, the members of the council have been as if their own neighborhood would win that mattered, or have indulged in a brand of vote trading not conducive to coordinated municipal progress.

The aldermen elected in April will be representatives of all Granite Cityans. Individual geographical areas will still need attention, but deserved emphasis can be given to the community as a whole.

Implementation of ward procedures, but limited to seven wards rather than eight, was ordered by the circuit court to be carried out two years from now, with new boundaries decided upon before Dec. 1, 1968.

It is unfortunate that the ruling late Thursday afternoon did not permit more time for council candidates to circulate and file new petitions by today's deadline. Brevity of the filing period probably reduced the number of candidates who otherwise would have attracted to a city-wide race.

The basic rule for immunization against the first birthday, Older, sickly children—those who have neither had measles nor received measles vaccine—should be immunized as soon as possible, particularly if they are of school age.

In some communities, and in Rhode Island and Delaware, measles has been practically eliminated by concerted immunization campaigns. There is no good reason why the Quad-Cities and Illinois cannot do the same.

Capital Improvement Fund Bill Should Be Clarified and Passed

Intent of Senate Bills 195 and 196, introduced by Sen. Simon, is to foster necessary municipal and school construction without the added cost of bond interest.

A law enacted several years ago had the same goal, but hard pressed taxing agencies never found that when they felt they could begin putting aside part of their operating funds. Immediate needs each year claimed all but a few of the available dollars.

The new proposal is an improvement because it permits an extra two-cent tax rate whose proceeds would go directly to a capital improvement fund. This money would be available from year to year and could be used only for building projects approved by public referendum. With the cash already in hand, construction could proceed without borrowing.

We support the idea and urge passage after an amendment requiring investment of idle capital funds and outlining the types of securities that could be purchased.

If the two bodies are to get their building funds working fully for them rather than against them, they will need to not only avoid paying interest but also get interest in return. Many undoubtedly would do this, but it should be spelled out in the legislation to guard against such abuses as non-interest-bearing accounts.

Measles a Serious Illness That Could Be Eliminated in This Area

Measles for years has been thought of as a slightly humorous childhood disease. But it is a crippling and killer, leaving many others with deafness, blindness and paralysis.

Measles could be eliminated as a major health threat. Some medical officials believe it could be eradicated in the U. S. within a year. How? Several types of anti-measles vaccine are available; they are easily administered by physician and have been safe and effective.

The best way for immunization is about the first birthday. Older, sickly children—those who have neither had measles nor received measles vaccine—should be immunized as soon as possible, particularly if they are of school age.

In some communities, and in Rhode Island and Delaware, measles has been practically eliminated by concerted immunization campaigns. There is no good reason why the Quad-Cities and Illinois cannot do the same.

Roses May Red ... And Quite Appropriate

If St. Valentine's Day comes by far behind? And everyone knows where young men's fancies lightly turn during that season, which coincidentally ends in June.

Just as surely as June rhymes with honey—now, February may be the eleventh ward concept but to the new ward lines added in a month. He went beyond the request and threw out the 1955 as well as January 1967 boundaries.

But the judge has given all voters a chance to strike a direct blow for better government in Granite City. Citizens' opportunity to elect the best of the aldermanic candidates must not be missed.

Politics Geared to Jobs Rather Than Issues Coming to an End

By Sen. Paul Simon

This means that the day of politics geared to jobs rather than issues is passing in Illinois—and the public is bound to be the beneficiary.

Improved Service to Public Illinois will not build a strong civil service system overnight. Part of a good system is not just change in our laws but building a tradition of competent public service.

Among the specific benefits we can expect as this trend develops:

1) An improved quality of public service. The state police, for example, unquestionably are a fine organization today, but if you had to be a precinct committeeman or precinct captain to become a state policeman.

When men and women can be assured of some permanency in their position, you can frequently attract a higher caliber of employee.

2) A reduction in corruption. It is no accident that the states across the nation which have experienced trouble with corruption have had a higher percentage of patronage employees.

Illinois and Indiana are two prime examples.

When job seeking does not dominate the political scene, political focus is on the job of maintaining basic integrity.

3) A wiser expenditure of tax dollars. Waste will never be eliminated in government, but it can be reduced.

4) A strengthening of the two-party political system. The party system should be based on job issues. The states without the patronage excess generally have a much stronger two-party structure than do patronage states.

Traffic Problem Blamed on Some Aldermen by Citizen Study Group

By the Granite City Citizens' Traffic Committee

During the last few years there has been a rapid growth in our community. Expansion, increased progress, technological advances, push button automation—these are the words of times.

The entire program was developed after study by one of the foremost traffic engineers in the area. The plan was not claimed to be perfect. It was admitted that changes would have to be made as the traffic patterns developed.

Population growth brings with it many developments. The economy of the town has changed, and costs have risen. From year to year we could be used only for building projects approved by public referendum. With the cash already in hand, construction could proceed without borrowing.

Anhydrous Ammonia Education For Fire Districts

Techniques to prevent anhydrous ammonia accidents will be explained to Illinois fire districts by the Illinois Department of Agriculture. Instruction will also be given on how to respond and offer first aid in the event of an anhydrous ammonia accident in the education program being initiated by the department. Anhydrous ammonia can become a dangerously flammable product when handled carelessly by inexperienced persons, according to Robert M. Schneider, director of the department. Persons trained in the safe handling of anhydrous ammonia and who are acquainted with state rules and regulations pertaining to use of the chemical, will meet with fire district personnel who are scheduled to film describing an actual anhydrous ammonia accident as well as slides will be shown at each meeting.

Rolling Dental Unit

A new approach to providing dental care and dental health education to migrant families and migrant families has been initiated in the state, according to Dr. Franklin D. Yoder, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health.

During 1966 a mobile dental unit was developed for use in a statewide program. The unit traveled to migrant labor camps last summer. The clinical dentist in charge of the mobile "dentist's office" provided on-spot dental care to children.

During the school year the unit has been visiting schools upon request and providing care to children who otherwise would not receive it. It is expected that the service will be expanded if the need becomes evident, Dr. Yoder said.

Prison Sociologists Needed

A recruitment program is currently being conducted for prison sociologists to fill vacancies in the Division of the Criminologist, Department of Corrections. Safety, prison sociologists serve on professional staffs at Joliet, Menard, Pontiac, Dwight and Vienna.

Minimum requirements for the positions consist of four years college, supplemented by a Master's Degree in sociology with course in criminology. Group work, with completion of one year internship in sociology or penology, or any equivalent combination of training and experience at the college level.

Persons interested in applying for positions as prison sociologists are asked to apply to the recruitment supervisor, Department of Personnel, 508 Centennial Building, Springfield.

Soil-Cause Landslides

In an attempt to attack one of the problems of urban growth, the Illinois Soil Conservation Survey recently conducted preliminary studies of the effects of soaps, detergents and water softening chemicals on several clay minerals found in the soil.

After years of saturation by waste disposal effluents, earth materials may become changed so that either man-made or natural disturbances can, under certain conditions, cause the differentiation of soil slopes to start landslides. Studies show that possible waste disposal effects should be considered when planning new subdivisions or industrial complexes.
